

VILLISTA LEADER IS KILLED IN SKIRMISH

JULIO VORDEN AND TWO OTHERS SLAIN BY AMERICAN TROOPS SUNDAY.

GIVE CARRANZA TROOPS CHANCE

Pershing's Army Withdrawing to the Line of Communication—Border Patrol.

(Associated Press)
Lake Itasca, Mex., May 15.—Three bandits, including Julio Cardenas, a Villista leader, were killed in a skirmish with an American detachment twenty miles west of here today. There were no American casualties. The Americans, who numbered twelve, were fired upon from a house.

Major General Hugh Scott, Chief of Staff of the United States army, returned to Washington today, hopeful for the Mexican situation. Pending ratification of an agreement Carranza troops are being moved northward into the bandit-ridden portions of Mexico and Gen. Pershing's forces are being withdrawn in strong groups along the line of communication, where the American troops will await the outcome of Obregon's efforts to clean up the territory to the south.

For Big Border Patrol.
Gen. Funston has mapped out a plan for the border patrol with 35,000 men he will have available for that purpose, exclusive of the 14,000 in Pershing's column.

Reports of Raids.
Information, indicating a plan for the resumption of raids across the border near Brownsville, have reached Gen. Funston.

Marines in San Domingo.
More American marines have been landed at San Domingo city to deal with the revolution led by War Minister Arias against former President Jimenes.

Marathon, Tex., May 15.—Mexican bandits, operating on the American side of the Rio Grande, far in the rear of the second punitive expedition, visited McKinney Springs, sixty-seven miles south of here, Friday night, exactly one week after the raid on Glen Springs.

San Antonio, May 15.—General Funston has ordered an investigation of the fires at Fort Bliss, near El Paso. They were incendiary, it is said, and evidently deliberate attempts to destroy the garrison.

Two stables were burned, according to the official report, and an attempt was made to set fire to an ammunition house.

General Funston is curious to know, it is said, how the incendiaries eluded the pickets and ignited two structures an hour apart.

New Raid Reported.
Another attempted raid on the border has been reported. According to dispatches from Donna, Texas, two automobiles filled with infantrymen and ten mounted troopers, were dispatched hastily from that point toward the border to intercept a band of armed Mexicans, which was reported marching on the little town.

A telephone message from Donna received later said no report had been received from the soldiers nor had there been any disturbance in the vicinity.

Houses Are Burned.
El Paso, Tex., May 15.—Army posts and stations along the border are on their guard against incendiaries following two fires at Fort Bliss here, where flames of unknown origin destroyed a storehouse, three cavalry stables, three horses and some tents. There were machine guns in the storehouse, but they were saved.

It was reported that an attempt was made to set fire to the ammunition house, but this was denied.

Army officers express the opinion that an investigation will disclose the fires could not have been of spontaneous accidental origin.

Two other fires of recent occurrence have been of a suspicious nature. At the field base at Columbus, N. M., about $700 worth of hay was destroyed. Two weeks ago the El Paso Country Club, not far from Fort Bliss, burned to the ground with a loss of $35,000.

Bandit Leader Killed.
Torreón, May 15.—The notorious bandit leader Pedro Cedillo, who has for a long time infested northern Vera Cruz, two officers and fifty of his men have been killed in an engagement with government forces under General Eugenio Lopez at Ciudad del Maiz. Fifty of the outlaws surrendered. General Lopez captured Ciudad del Maiz, and in further skirmishing killed Pedro Cedillo's brother Martin. The fifty captured bandits will be executed. The Carranza losses are few.

The battle with the Cedillos is looked upon as the successful beginning of a campaign that will clear northern Vera Cruz of bandits.

SEVENTEEN MEMBERS DROPPED FROM CO. G

NON-ATTENDANCE AT DRILLS BRINGS DISMISSALS TO MILITIAMEN.

FOUR "NON-COMS" ARE REDUCED

In keeping with their announced intention of improving the condition of Company G the officers have recommended to the Adjutant General that seventeen members be dropped from the service because of non-attendance at drills, and that four non-commissioned officers be reduced to the ranks because of inefficiency and lack of interest. Inasmuch as the recommendations of company officers are usually accepted without question by the Adjutant General, orders for the dismissals and demotions will no doubt be issued soon.

This action on the part of the officers will make it necessary that some new blood be recruited at once and a campaign is to be secured for the best kind of timber for the additional force. Recruits will be given every opportunity to advance and an examination, open to every private, will be held in three months to fill corporal vacancies.

William Saumby had a narrow escape from serious injury or death on Saturday night while in an intoxicated condition, when he fell between the cars and the platform at the Illinois Central passenger station as the northbound passenger train was pulling out of the station. He was fined $10 and costs and being unable to pay was sent to the county jail to board out the assessment.

BAZAR TO BE HELD BENEFIT NEW BAND

UNIFORMS AND SUPPLIES NEEDED FOR CHAMBER OF COMMERCE BAND.

STARTS SATURDAY EVENING

And Will Continue All Through Next Week—Younger Commerce Branch Forms Committee.

A big bazar of seven nights' duration, by which it is hoped to raise money for uniforms and supplies for the Chamber of Commerce band, will be held at Rosbrook hall commencing Saturday evening and continuing every night next week. The plans for the big affair, which it is expected will be one of the biggest of the year, are in charge of the following members of the Young Men's Branch of the Chamber of Commerce, which organization is sponsoring the musical organization: Tim Sullivan, C. E. Boller, B. F. Downing, H. W. Harms, H. H. Heinze, W. W. Gilbert, Wm. Nixon, W. T. Greig, I. B. Hofer, George W. Smith and Henry Kenneth.

The young men of the Chamber of Commerce, in announcing the fair, also announce that the band is in reality a citizens' band, one in which every citizen of Dixon is asked to feel a personal interest. Plans are being made for the band to give concerts during the summer and as soon as the fair and Memorial day, for which the musicians have donated their services to the old soldiers, are past, announcement of the program of concerts will be made.

Final details for the bazar will be completed at the rehearsal of the band at the armory this evening. The band will play each evening of the fair and if the new uniforms arrive in time they will be "sprung" during the week's entertainment.

Concerts Assured.
This afternoon the committee soliciting funds for the summer concerts announced that sufficient subscriptions had been made to assure concerts during the summer, and within a short time it will be determined what evening the weekly concerts will be played.

"MAGNIFY THE HOME CIRCLE" STODDARD

BAPTIST PASTOR SAYS CHURCH MOSTLY WOMEN BUT MEN IN MAJORITY AT JOLIET.

The First Baptist church observed Mothers' day, and the pastor, Rev. George W. Stoddard, based his morning sermon upon the beautiful life of Hannah, as the mother of Samuel, and then he compared Samuel's mother of three thousand years ago to the Christian mother of today.

"We are all agreed," he said "that Samuel had the right kind of a mother. She was prayerful, faithful and loving." He did not think that the sphere of Hannah's work was too limited when she concentrated all her prayers on the little boy. "She put home first," he said, "but I am afraid too many mothers are entrusting too much training of their children to others. Children still need the home influence, and there is danger in farming out the little ones. We need to magnify the domestic circle, because the tendency is away from the home." "Some men are inclined to criticize the church because most of the members are women. That's true; but let's be fair. Most of the prisoners at Joliet are men."

In speaking of the present economic conditions he said that woman had gained considerable ground in many respects, but in other ways she is still carrying the heaviest burden and that while the world is organized against her, yet she is protesting and is being heard.

"Blessed is the mother who, like Hannah, consecrated her boy unto the Lord. As we study history we find that great men had good Christian mothers, such as Washington, Lincoln, Garfield, Grant and McKinley."

SWEDISH NOBLEMAN DOUBLE MURDERER

MEMBER OF ONE OF SWEDEN'S OLDEST FAMILIES CONFESSES TERRIBLE CRIME.

WOMAN'S MEMORY CATCHES HIM

Recognized On Street By a Woman Who Saw Him Emerge From Bank When He Murdered Two.

Stockholm, Sweden, May 5.—Correspondence of the Associated Press—Leonard Rudolph Alexander Gyllenpalm, a member of one of the oldest families in Sweden, a family that was knighted in the 17th century and registered in the "Riddarhus," or Swedish House of Nobles, has confessed to the double murder which recently occurred in one of the branch banks of Stockholm and which stirred all Sweden because of the brutality of the crime. The manager of the bank was found with a hatchet in his skull and a woman clerk was shot to death.

The chance capture of Gyllenpalm and his own cold-blooded story of the crime have made thrilling reading for the Swedish people. His Nemesis worked in the person of a young Swedish woman with a good memory for faces. She had seen the nobleman emerge from the bank, and though she did not then know of any murder having been committed, she noticed there was something strange about his actions. When she herself entered the bank she found the bodies of the manager and clerk, and then realized that the man she had seen hurrying from the place must have been the murderer. She described the man to the police as best she could, but the detectives made absolutely no headway until, more than a fortnight afterward, the same young lady passed the murderer on the street. She believed she recognized him, but was not sure. With a girl companion she followed him several blocks until a policeman was met, to whom the girl told her suspicions, and the officer decided to arrest him.

The nobleman at first denied all knowledge of the crime, but after he had been held for two days, an analysis of some spots on his shoes and clothes established the fact that they were stains of human blood and when confronted with this evidence Gyllenpalm confessed. He only intended, however, to kill the branch manager, thinking no one else would be at the bank at that time. He carried the hatchet in a leather portfolio or lawyer's brief case. He was surprised by the woman clerk and followed the first impulse to shoot. Having committed the double murder he became alarmed and fled without securing any money.

Direct from the scene he went to a restaurant a few blocks away and joined a party of friends at a mid-day breakfast, eating a hearty meal and drinking several glasses of wine. That afternoon the newspapers were full of accounts of the mysterious murder. Gyllenpalm, however, moved about among his friends without slightest evidence that he was more than ordinarily stirred by the news. He had dinner down town and when the meal was finished he suggested to a friend a walk around to the bank to see where such an atrocious murder was committed. There was a crowd of the morbidly curious about the door, which was guarded by a policeman. Gyllenpalm, in his confession told how while he was standing there in the crowd about the bank some one remarked:

"It is a curious thing, but a murder."

TELLS CASEMENT SCHEME FOR IRELAND

ALLEGED HEAD OF SINN FEIN REBELS PLACED ON TRIAL IN LONDON TODAY.

WORKED AMONG IRISH PRISONERS

Were Urged to Forget Allegiance and Join Expedition to Free Ireland.

(Associated Press)
The preliminary hearing of Sir Roger Casement, alleged head of the Sinn Fein rebellion, who is charged with treason, began in the Bow Street police court in London this morning. There were few spectators in court when Casement was brought in. Arraigned with him was Private Bailey, who was arrested in Ireland April 21st.

Incited Desertions.

In opening the case the Attorney General charged Casement with conducting a campaign among the Irish prisoners of the Germans for the purpose of seducing them from their allegiance. Bailey, he said, had been seduced in this manner. Bailey was born in Dublin. At the outbreak of the war he was called as a reservist. He was taken prisoner while serving in France in September, 1914.

Addressed Prisoners.

Bailey, the Attorney General said, had related how Irish prisoners collected from the various prisons in Germany, had been placed in camp at Limberg, and had been addressed by Casement who tried to persuade them to support an expedition to Ireland. The prisoners who joined the expedition were to be sent to Berlin as the guests of the government, and in the event the Germans won a big battle he was to lead an expedition in Ireland to defend that country against England. If Germany lost the war the German government was to give each member of the expedition $50 to $100 as free passage to America. The offer was treated with contempt by a vast majority of the Irish prisoners, the Attorney General said. The real trial will take place before a panel of judges in the high court.

Told of Trip.

The Attorney General told of Casement's trip by submarine to Tralee, where he landed with Bailey and a third man who is still at large. He also told of the sending of ships with 20,000 rifles from Germany to Tralee and how the ship was sunk and its crew captured.

He read a statement from Bailey in which the latter said he joined the Irish brigade to see if he could get out of Germany and how after a visit to the German office Bailey departed on the submarine.

Casement Takes Blame.

Casement arose during the hearing and said Bailey was innocent, and further offered to procure counsel for him. John Robinson, of Belfast, who was captured by the Germans early in the war and who was recently released, testified of 4,000 Irish prisoners at Limberg gathering to hear the exhortations of Casement. He said only fifty or sixty joined the Irish brigade.

Asquith Left Dublin.

Premier Asquith has left Dublin for Belfast. It is rumored he is trying to arrange a coalition of the two Irish factions for a temporary war government in Ireland.

AUTOMOBILE RACING.

Automobile racing is a modern invention which would have made the old Roman chariot races look like an antiquated parade. The Romans are credited with the first consideration by historians to have a sult is much more useful to humanity than the second.

but if a Roman citizen who had been a gladiator matinee fiend should come back and witness an automobile race from the upper curves he would probably put both fingers in his ears and try to climb the fence with his teeth. An automobile race consists of a large number of dust and smoke clouds, each one enclosing a volcanic roar, and a candidate for the morgue. The roars are produced by automobiles ranging from 100 to 200 horse power, and when a couple of these leaping catalyzers come down the stretch, making 1100 impassioned remarks per minute apiece, the day's cannonading at Verdun would dwindle to a dove coo in comparison.

Automobile races are held for the purpose of finding the weak points in automobile frames and in the spectators' brains. Thanks to automobile racing we have produced cars capable of making 100 miles an hour for half a day, including stops for gasoline, tires and inequities, and which can leap five feet in the air and come down 55 feet farther on without disarranging anything but the road. And we have also discovered a variety of human beings who will watch a flock of

THE CONSUMER MISCALCULATES

Often Pays More For Catalogue House Goods.

ONE FARMER'S EXPERIENCE.

Influenced by an Alluring Picture Book For a Time—Yards of Red Tape Used—Buying From a Picture Album Is a Reckless Form of Gambling. See the Goods Before Purchase.

[Copyrighted, 1914, by Thomas J. Sullivan] Figures do not always indicate the price of goods sold by mail order houses as scheduled in their price lists, as the catalogue houses are careful not to mention the "extra" cost incidental to placing the order and the delivery of the article ordered.

The consumer is governed by the low catalogue price rather than the delivery cost, the latter means, of course, being the correct way of determining the cost of the article.

Consumer Buys Costly Saw.

As an example I reproduce herewith a conversation which recently took place in a western town when a consumer entered the local store and inquired the price of a saw. The price of the saw was $2, the merchant told him.

"Great guns!" declared the consumer. "I can get the same article from a catalogue house for $1.50."

"I can't buy it for that price," said the merchant, "but I will give it to you on the same terms as the mail order house, just the same."

"All right," replied the consumer. "You can wrap it up and charge it to me, and when I settle in the fall I will pay for it."

"Hand Over the Cash."

"Oh, no, you don't," said the dealer. "We are doing business on the same terms as you do business with the mail order house—no charge accounts. Hand over the cash, please."

The consumer handed over $1.50. "Now," said the merchant, "5 cents for the money order and 2 cents for postage."

"What the—"

"But you must send a letter and a money order to the catalogue house in order to get the saw, you know."

The consumer, although desiring to bolt, kept bravely to his agreement and paid the 7 cents.

"Now the express charges, 45 cents, if you please."

"Well, by gracious!" he said and gamely paid it, with the remark, "Now that I have met all of your demands hand me over my saw."

Man Made Mistake.

"Hand you the saw? Why, man, where do you think you are? Just recollect that you are in Texas and I am located in Chicago. You will have to wait about fifteen days for me to make the delivery." And, tucking up his words with actions, he pocketed the money, put the saw back on the shelf and smilingly turned to wait on the next customer.

The consumer pondered, and after he got through with his deductions he said: "The saw will cost me $2.03. That is 3 cents more than I could have bought it for in the first place, and I am deprived of its use for fifteen days besides. No more mail order house for me!"

Incident Worthy of Emulation.
The incident related above is one which both the merchant and the consumer may read with profit, and if more of the merchants adopted the same tactics as did the Texas merchant they would have fewer mail order buyers among those who should be their customers.

And there is much more to this question than price and delivery; there are often dissatisfaction and inferior and damaged goods to contend with. In the case of goods being damaged en route the buyer has either the prospect of a lawsuit with the railroad company or a correspondence fight with the catalogue house, neither of which is very inviting.

Not infrequently does the buyer, rather than to go to all the expense and trouble incidental to the exchange of the article, allow himself to be imposed upon by accepting the inferior and often valueless article, an article which he is actually ashamed to own or use.

The Only Safe Way.

There can be but one right way to buy goods, and that is to have the goods in view of the purchaser. Buying from a picture is a reckless form of gambling in which the advantage is entirely with the seller. He knows what your money is. You do not know what his goods are. Hence it is heads he wins and tails you lose.

That the catalogue house always gets the better of the bargain is evidenced by the fact that annually the large mail order houses declare dividends

Glass of Hot Water Before Breakfast a Splendid Habit

Open sluices of the system each morning and wash away the poisonous, stagnant matter.

Those of us who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when we arise; splitting headache, stuffy from a cold, foul tongue, nasty breath, acid stomach, lame back, can, instead, both look and feel as fresh as a daisy always by washing the poisons and toxins from the body with phosphated hot water each morning.

We should drink, before breakfast, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to flush from the stomach, liver, kidneys and ten yards of bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary tract before putting more food into the stomach.

The action of limestone phosphate and hot water on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases, waste and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast and it is said to be but a little while until the roses begin to appear in the cheeks. A quarter pound of limestone phosphate will cost very little at the drug store, but is sufficient to make anyone who is bothered with biliousness, constipation, stomach trouble or rheumatism a real enthusiast on the subject of internal sanitation. Try it and you are assured that you will look better and feel better in every way shortly.

Proper Manner To Prevent Aphids From Destroying Rose Bushes

Washington, D. C., May 13.—When new growth starts on the rose bushes in the spring, and throughout the summer and fall, the young growth and the flower buds and stems of rose bushes are often covered with a small green or pinkish plant louse, known as the rose aphid, which sucks the sap from the tender portion of the plant and causes an unhealthy curled condition of the foliage and disappointment in the number and quality of the flowers produced.

The rose aphid passes the winter in the egg stage on the stems and dormant buds of the rose bushes, according to A. D. Hopkins, Forest Entomologist, U. S. Department of Agriculture. The insects hatch from these eggs reach maturity in about 15 to 20 days, all being wingless. They are pear-shaped and either bright green or pinkish in color. At this stage they begin to produce living young, each individual course of about 20 days producing 50 to 100 young, which on maturity are either winged or wingless and turn either green or pinkish. The tender growth soon become crowded with various sizes, colors and shapes of aphides, and, to insure their progeny with an adequate food supply, the wingless mothers migrate to less crowded growth and the winged ones fly to other rose bushes, each starting a colony of herself. In favorable weather conditions, especially in a humid atmosphere, many generations may follow one another, covering every bit of green vegetation on the bush with their bodies, their cast skins, honeydew, and the resulting sooty fungus. It can easily be seen that had every aphid produced in the course of a season lived its full life, the progeny of a single overwintering egg would run into millions.

The presence of ants on the rose bushes is an indication that the aphids are present, because the ants collect the honeydew from the aphides and, to a certain extent, protect the aphides from their insect enemies.

Natural Control
As above indicated, the rose aphid thrives best in cloudy, humid, warm atmosphere, hence with the appearance of a hot and dry spell they often disappear as suddenly as they appeared.

Aside from the variety of causes, like driving rains, winds, etc., which decimate its numbers considerably the rose aphid is attacked by other insects which either devour them or develop from eggs deposited in their bodies. Ladybirds, lacewing flies and the larvae of two-winged flies are among the former and a number of species of tiny wasp-like insects represent the internal parasites. Sometimes these natural agencies of control are sufficient to keep the aphides so reduced in numbers that they do little or no harm. Notwithstanding the effectiveness of natural checks, however, their intermittent character unfortunately renders their help often too late to save the flower crop. It is always advisable, therefore, to watch rose bushes for aphides and to apply remedies as soon as they are discovered.

Remedies
Fortunately the rose aphid readily succumbs to artificial methods of control and, with the different styles of spray pumps on the market, there is no excuse for allowing roses to suffer from these insects.

The simplest, most commonly used and often quite effective remedy is to turn a fine but forceful stream of water on them by means of the garden hose. Applied often enough this gives satisfactory results.

Solutions of fish-oil or cheaper grades of soap are often useful as a prompt remedy. The soap is used at the rate of 1 pound to 4 gallons of water. To make the solution, shave the soap into water and dissolve by heating, adding enough water afterwards to make up for evaporation.

The best remedy for the rose aphid is 40 per cent nicotine sulphate (a liquid which can be purchased in most seed stores) diluted at the rate of 1 part to 1,000 to 2,000 parts of water, with fish-oil soap or laundry soap added at the rate of 1 pound to 50 gallons of the spray mixture. The simplest way to prepare the spray in small quantities and secure satisfactory proportions of the ingredients is to put one teaspoonful of nicotine sulphate in from 1 to 2 gallons of water and then add one half ounce of laundry soap. One spraying is usually 100 per cent effective, but if the first application has not been thoroughly made, a second one may be necessary.

In order to prevent the possible development of mildew as a result of frequent spraying it is advisable to make the application in the early morning so that the spray will dry off the plant promptly.

The spraying device to use depends on the amount of spraying necessary. A cheap atomizer, such as can be bought in any seed store, is quite satisfactory for small plants and gardens. Good knapsack and barrel pumps are available for commercial growers.

THE FOREIGN AND AMERICAN WAR BUSINESS.

Henry Clews, writing on the week ending May 13th, from his New York office, says, in part:

A change seems impending in the atmosphere of current events. We have long been agitated by a sense of apprehension that the great crisis through which we are now passing would not end without some sort of disturbance at home. Those fears had their inception in the war and our relations with Germany and Mexico and certainly had good foundation. As regards Germany, the outlook has been much improved by the frank admission of responsibility for sinking the Sussex and the promise of reparation. The promises of Germany to also modify her submarine policy in accordance with the wishes of the American government are also encouraging, and it fulfilled should insure friendly relations between the two countries. The situation was immensely clarified by President Wilson's decisive note last week which was practically an ultimatum. There is every reason to hope that Germany will avoid a rupture with the United States, since we are her best remaining friend among the neutral powers and can be of invaluable service when peace negotiations really begin. The desire of Germany to end the war is unquestionable. Peace feelers have been repeatedly advanced and the belief in its early coming strengthens daily. The greatest hindrance to peace now is the strong inclination of the allies to push the war to a final conclusion. The final struggle between the armies of the central powers and the entente is probably yet to come; as yet neither side has conquered, and no lasting or satisfactory peace can be established until one side or the other has been forced into submission. Thus while peace is in the air, and while the mad thirst for war has been superseded by a sane longing for peace, there is no immediate prospect as yet for any such conclusion. The war promises to continue for some time yet, unless something happens which will compel concessions on both sides. Meanwhile peace talk will grow, and all rational efforts to that end should be encouraged for the good of the belligerents in particular and the benefit of mankind in general. The Mexican outlook is far from satisfactory, and the danger of our becoming more deeply involved in that quarter is constantly increasing. We are certainly threatened with a long and costly difficulty, the outcome of which cannot at this time be foreseen.

How long is the feverish business activity of the last few months to continue? During the first four months of the current year, bank clearings reached the tremendous total of $78,000,000,000, or nearly 45% more than the same time last year. The railroads have earned about 20% more so far this year than a year ago, and the gain is only partly due to better rates, traffic having made most encouraging gains. Exports for the last nine months were about 50% ahead in value of last year.

Bankers are now scrutinizing loans more carefully, since credits have greatly extended and much larger sums are required to finance a given amount of merchandise than formerly. With commodities at such dizzy heights and exposed to a reaction, bankers are justified in exercising greater discrimination. Further, the cost of doing business has been greatly enhanced by the rise in raw materials. Such developments mean that the next 12 months will not see a repetition of the bulge in profits of the last 12 months. Again, foreign munition orders, which did much to swell both profits and exports, may be repeated, but on a decidedly smaller scale with the prospect of almost vanishing when peace comes. In many cases new enterprises have been deferred until costs of building decline. Not a few concerns, notably in the steel industry, are sold ahead so completely as to be unable to take further orders, or at least until the outlook for raw material is more settled. While the prospect for peace, as said above, is not yet in sight, it is practically certain that a cessation of hostilities is not very far distant, when both domestic and foreign trade will be demobilized or readjusted upon a peace basis. It would be decidedly erroneous to expect to return to the ways and conditions existing before the war. On the contrary, many problems will be wholly new and quite as perplexing, if not more so, than those now in the melting pot. New forces, new conditions, new ambitions, new policies, new methods, new markets and new opportunities in endless procession will bring in a flood of fresh problems, the solution of which will require much prudence and time for adjustment.

In spite of such perplexities the business outlook for the country as a whole is decidedly promising. The West is practically assured of another year of prosperity because of the high prices for all food and agricultural products.

WORK NEEDED ON THE BRIDGE.

Cannot something be done about the condition of the board walks on the Calena avenue bridge? For a long time the walks have been in a very dilapidated condition and a great deal of complaint has been registered. The boards were laid too far apart in the first place, and they have been there so long that the edges of the planks have been worn, thus increasing the space between the boards. It is almost impossible for a woman to walk across the bridge without tearing one or both of the heels from her shoes, for the small heels drop part way into the cracks between the boards, become wedged by the pressure, and when the next step is taken, a part of the heel is left between the boards. Dixon cannot afford to leave the bridge in such condition.

A glance out of your bed room window on a bright, warm and sunny spring morning like this makes you forget days of cold, soggy, miserable weather that may have preceded that morning. It all goes to show that a little sunshine can make up for a whole lot of gloom.

By the time the Missus' Spring bonnet is paid for they start advertising the mid-summer styles, so that a fellow never gets any real repose of mind.

Daddy's Bedtime Story

How Ashputtel
Planted a
Hazel Twig.

[Adapted from Grimm's Fairy Tales.]

WHEN Jack and Evelyn wanted a story daddy told them about Ashputtel. "Once upon a time a rich man lost his wife and had no one left but a little daughter. She was a nice child and kind to every one about her. When spring came her father married a new wife who had two daughters of her own. Instead of being gentle and kind they were hard hearted. At once they began to boss the man's daughter about. 'What does the good for nothing want in the parlor?' they would ask. 'Away with the kitchen maid! Who would eat bread must first earn it!'"

"'Twas her own home, wasn't it?" said Jack.

"Well, this girl, whose home it was, was forced to do hard work—to get up mornings before daylight, to bring water in from the pump, to make the fire in the kitchen stove, to wash clothes and cook food for her step-sisters. Besides all this, they plagued her in all sorts of ways and made fun of her clothes. At night, when she was so tired after her hard work, she had no bed to sleep on because her step-sisters had taken her room. So she had to lie down by the hearth among the ashes. Of course this made her look dusty and dirty. So her step-sisters nicknamed her Ashputtel."

"Now, it happened that the father once went to a fair. So he asked his stepdaughters what he should bring them for a present. 'Fine clothes!' said one. 'Pearls and diamonds!' cried the other. 'Now, child,' he said to his own daughter, 'what will you have?'"

"The first twig, dear father, that brushes against your hat when you turn your face to come homeward," said Ashputtel.

"So he went to the fair and bought two beautiful gowns and two pearl and diamond bracelets for his stepdaughters. And on his way home he rode horseback through a green wood. A hazel twig brushed against him and almost pushed off his hat. So he broke it off and brought it home to his own daughter. Then Ashputtel took it and went to her mother's grave, where she planted the hazel twig. She cried so much that she watered the twig with her own tears. So it grew and grew into a fine tree.

"She worked as hard as ever, but three times each day she managed to get away for a little while to visit her tree and cry by it. Then when spring came a little bird built its nest in her tree and talked with her and comforted her. Whenever she wanted anything very much the bird brought it to her," daddy finished.

"The bluebird for happiness!" cried Evelyn.

A DEADLY WAR WEAPON

The Krupps, who supply guns to the German Empire and to half of the world besides, have now invented a terrible weapon known as the bomb gun. It fires a huge, very large bomb containing 160 pounds of chemicals. As it bursts it fills the air with poisonous gas in which no human being can live. The gases from one bomb will kill every one within a radius of 500 yards. This weapon apparently will make it impossible for soldiers to remain in the open trenches. In experiments on animals it was found that the fumes turned them green.—Exchange.

Greek Tax Program Ready.

Athens, May 15.—The government has completed the fiscal measures which will be presented to the chamber of deputies in an effort to relieve the present serious financial situation. In addition to the projected internal loan and the plan for issuance of 30,000,000 drachmae of unsupported paper, the measures provide for a graduated tax on the net profits of shippers, a levy of 10 per cent on exports of tobacco, and taxes on hotels, mills and other businesses.

The assessment on shippers is to be retroactive from Jan. 1, 1915. Greek calendar, and in some instances will be as high as 15 per cent. It is expected to bring in 800,000 drachmae.

The cabinet hopes these taxes will yield in the neighborhood of 1,000,000,000 drachmae. This would provide funds for maintaining the army in the expense of which is 300,000 drachmae daily, and also would make possible payment of long overdue allowances to families of soldiers.

PRINCESS THEATRE.

Tonight the Princess theatre will show Burr McIntosh in "My Partner," in five parts.

To the thousands of American theatregoers who have known Burr McIntosh and loved him in the roles of "Pudd'nhead Wilson," "Squire Bartlett" in "Way Down East," "Col. Moberly" in "Alabama," "Senator W. H. Langdown" in "The Gentleman from Mississippi" as "Col. Watterson Blossom" in "Cordelia Blossom," and scores of others of the wholesome type of western and southern gentleman with which he has come to be associated, the announcement that Mr. McIntosh will appear in the screen drama "My Partner" which will be released as a Mutual Masterpiece, deluxe edition, will be enthusiastically received.

Those familiar with the American stage history will easily recall that "My Partner" by Bartley Campbell, was one of the spectacular stage successes of 35 years ago. The initial appearance of this melodrama was made in the Union Square theatre Sept. 16, 1879.

In the moving picture Mr. McIntosh has made the great, whole-souled western, Joe Saunders live as he never did on the legitimate stage. He is set in his own setting of real hills and valleys, towering pines and rushing torrents. The picture is filled with thrilling situations and rapid action.

INDIAN LANDS IN WEST WILL BE THROWN OPEN

Spokane, Wash., May 13.—The United States will throw open to settlement this summer approximately 350,000 acres of land in eastern Washington. The draft of the proclamation for the opening of the south half of the Colville Indian reservation has been issued by Secretary of the Interior Lane, and one of the nation's great land drawings will take place July 27.

From July 5th to July 22d, registration of those desiring 160 acres farms will be held at Spokane, Wenatchee, Wilbur, Republic, Omak and Colville in the state of Washington, according to information received this week.

The Colville reservation is less than fifty miles from Spokane. It extends from the Columbia river, on the east and south, to the Okanogan river, on the west. It is about seventy miles east and west, and forty miles north and south. The elevation varies from 1000 to 6000 feet.

The San Poil river bisects the reservation. Toward the north end of the San Poil valley, there are large areas of bench land. The next valley westward is the Nespelem, which is without timber and supports a luxuriant growth of bunch grass. The upper portions are sub-irrigated and raise much timothy.

Stock raising, according to Spokane men who have studied the conditions there, is destined to be practiced extensively on the lands to be thrown open to settlement.

The Okanogan valley lies to the west of Nespelem. The bottom land is volcanic ash, covered with sagebrush and bunchgrass. The bench lands on neither side are a black loam soil.

The land is classified as timber, grazing, agricultural and mineral.

GERMANY TO HAVE DICTATOR OF FOOD

Big Cities Fare Badly at Hands of Country.

Berlin, May 15.—The Koelnische Zeitung announces the impending appointment of a "food dictator" to take charge of and control all matters concerning food in the empire.

The newspaper says it is to be assumed that this new "food minister" is to have absolute control of the distribution and prices of all foods, so as to equalize matters and relieve a situation by which at present the large cities are suffering at the expense of the country.

In an editorial the Koelnische Zeitung welcomes the proposed plan. It reiterates that the plan has no connection with the retirement of Clemens Delbrueck, minister of the interior.

WIT AND NEAR WIT

A farmer wrote to the editor of an agricultural paper as follows: "I have a horse that has been afflicted for the past year with periodical fits of dizziness. Please let me know what I should do with him, as he seems to get worse instead of better. I am afraid he will be unfit for work if something is not done soon." In the next issue this answer appeared. "When the nag is looking all right, sell him to someone."

"How is your milkman?"
"Very reliable. He never misses our house."
"But how is his milk? Is it diluted?"
"Well, I really can't say. You see, I've never kept a cow and I don't know how milk in its natural state ought to look."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Officer—I want a man to go round and buy some good horses, sergeant. Are you—er—anything of a judge of horseflesh?
Sergeant—I dunno, sir. I've never tasted any!

She—Aren't you just devoted to animals?
He: Well, I do like a lamb when it's well roasted and served with mint sauce.—Baltimore American.

"Hello, Dobson! Any luck yesterday when you were fishing?"
"Great! I was away when six bill collectors called."

Scrubby-face Individual: Can you get trusted for a shave?
Barber: Not in this joint. If you can't raise a dime, you'll keep on raising whiskers.

"Why do you knock so? Why are you always using the hammer?"
"I do it to rivet attention, my boy."

"Never speak to me again," exclaimed the fair maid, as with flashing eyes she handed back to the foot ball hero the ring he had so proudly placed on her finger a few short days before. "I can never marry a coward."

"A coward?" he stammered.
"Yes, a coward. I saw you with my own eyes at the game this afternoon. You had the ball under your arm and ran with it the whole length of the field instead of facing the crowd and fighting like a man."

She was an ardent suffragist and was arguing with her father about the ballot for women.
"Well, what are you suffragists going to do," inquired the father.
"We are going to sweep the country," she replied.
"Well, do not despise small beginnings, my dear. Suppose you start with the dining room."

Seau-Seau
Can you, sir, pronounce trousseau?
I'm frank I cannot do so.
I think it may be trousseau.
But of course I do not know so.
And maybe it is trousseau.
Still I can't imagine how so.

"Jinks is a born poet."
"That's no reason why he should n't try to make something of himself."

"Do you, know you're growing handsome, hubble?"
"Yes; it's a way I have when I gets anywhere near your birthday."

"I managed while abroad to cure just the actress I wanted, but on the way across she threw up her part."

"How sick she must have been." He taught her to fence with foils. To box with gloves—and now That they are wed, he doesn't dare To raise the smallest row.

A very fat man applied for enlistment in the army. The recruiting sergeant looked at him and shook his head, saying:
"Can't be done, old son; you're too stout."
"Stout or not stout," came the indignant reply, "Every acre of my body is at the service of my country."

"Any pretty girls at the hotel where you spent the summer?"
"Yes, indeed," replied the man whose few remaining strands of hair were laid out to the best advantage. "Did they show you any attention?"
"They showed me just as little as they could."
"Tough luck."
"I rather expected it. You see, they were witnesses."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

"Wasser"

At the end of three weeks of married life a southern dandy returned to the minister who had performed the marriage ceremony and asked for a divorce. After explaining that he could not grant divorces, the minister tried to dissuade his visitor from carrying out his intentions, saying:

IMMIGRANT GIRL BECOMES A PICTURE STAR.
Anna Nilsson Proves There's Always Room At the Top.

ANNA NILSSON, co-starred with Mr. Tom Moore in "Who's Guilty?" the fourteen two-reel series of photo-novels which is about to be released by Pathé, was born in Helsingfors, Sweden, just twenty-four years ago. She has been on the stage and in motion pictures in the United States for the last nine years; yet she does not come of theatrical folks. In fact, Miss Nilsson is the first member of her family to go on the stage. It is largely an accident—though a very lucky accident—that Miss Nilsson is today one of the real screen stars of America. That accident was caused by the triumph of curiosity over caution. Back in Helsingfors, as a little girl, knew several families who in time emigrated to the United States. She kept up a constant correspondence with her young friends and one day was overjoyed to learn that two of them were returning to their home city for a visit. When they got there they fired the imagination of Anna Nilsson with their tales of the land across the sea. When it came time for them to return they took with them the little girl who saw in New York City the place where her youthful ambitions would be justified. For a time all Miss Nilsson did in New York, as she tells it, was to wander around open-eyed and open-mouthed. Then she learned to keep her eyes open and her mouth shut, as she puts it, and her ears very alert. Quickly she learned the language. And then she met one of the leading fashion photographers of the metropolis, who was convinced that in Anna Nilsson, then but fifteen years old, was a charming subject for the camera. Also, she could, to use the vernacular, "wear clothes." In a brief time Miss Nilsson had become the highest salaried fashion model in New York. One day she dropped into the studios of a picture company to visit Alice Joyce. While she was sitting in Miss Joyce's dressing room a director entered—and well, then and there Miss Nilsson became booked for a theatrical career. She worked in small parts for a time; parts so small, she says, that if the audience had winked at a certain point in the films they would have missed her entirely. But by degrees she worked herself up and soon was playing ingenue roles and then ingenue leads. For four and a half years Miss Nilsson remained with that company, appearing in more than 250 pictures in that time. In the feature presentation of "Shenandoah," Miss Nilsson was starred for the first time; also, her work in that picture established her as one of America's premier screen actresses. Then she went to play the lead in "Regeneration." She was also featured in "The Scarlet Road." Playing then opposite Robert Warwick she appeared in "To Him That Hath," one of the big dramatic roles of her career. The Arrow Company, producing the "Who's Guilty?" series, have now given her the best chance of her career. Chief among Miss Nilsson's pleasures are swimming and horseback riding. She is a really expert equestrienne, nor does she confine herself to the bridle paths of Central Park. She can—and unhesitatingly will—take her horse over the jumps and rough country in a fashion to make even a professional horseman envious. And her ability as a swimmer and sailor is second only to her horsemanship.

THE SECRET
The secret of health is that the recipe for health is no secret.

The rules of health are few, simple, easy to comprehend. Every one knows them, save the few who are so wise that they know everything but the obvious, and can do anything but make a living.

Health is yours, if you will comply with Nature's laws.

And these laws are: Breathe, bathe, work, laugh, study, play; and flavor all with love.

He who will follow this formula, mixing the ingredients in right proportion, will live long, well, and happily.

To him old age will come painlessly and as a glad release.

For him the autumn days will be the loveliest of the year. He will fall asleep in this world, and awaken in another, and if he remembers the past, he will laugh to think he ever had a fear.

Man is an air plant. Man can go without food for forty days, but he cannot go without air for forty seconds without discomfort, and four minutes without air will kill him.

Breathe deeply when in the open. The breath is the life. Even breathing means an even pulse.

Anger and jealousy shorten the breath and shorten life, because they disturb the circulation. And when you disturb the circulation, you interfere with digestion, and render your thoughts moody, erratic, unsafe.

Breathe; also bathe. The skin must be kept active. Thus is elimination made easy and natural.

Drink plenty of water. Hot water in the morning is good, always.

Eat sparingly and let your nightcap be an apple and a half glass of water. As you slowly sip the water, think well of yourself, think well of everybody, and especially think well of those who toil and who go forth to their labors until the evening.

As for your enemies, forget them.

Besides your daily work, have a hobby—music, chess, books, gardening, gasoline, golf. Every day read a little poetry, look upon a beautiful picture, hear a piece of choice music, these things love the soul; they rest and they refresh.

Use nature's remedies and none other—good food in moderation; good thoughts, good deeds.

Sleep at night and work in the day.

Nature is our loving mother. Love her in return; study her; appreciate her, and she will hold you in her loving arms and sing you a lullaby, as care casts anchor in the shadow of a dream.—Elbert Hubbard.

SPORTING NOTES

Milwaukee, Wis.—Boxing fans of Milwaukee and Chicago were sorely disappointed with the calling off of the ten round bout between Charley White, a Chicago lightweight, and Richie Mitchell of Milwaukee, which was to have been held May 9th and was spoiled because of an attack of blood-poisoning in Mitchell's foot.

The show was to have been an inter-city card in which the local boxers were to meet opponents from Chicago.

There is some talk of matching Fred Fulton, heavyweight, with another boy for a contest in Milwaukee before the season ends.

Detroit—The annual regatta of the Inter-Lake Yachting association at Put-in-Bay, Ohio, will be featured by sail yacht and power boat races and the Central A. A. U. boats July 16th to 21st.

Detroit—Detroit swimmers and divers hope to make a strong showing at the aquatic tournament, which will be held at Put-in-Bay, Ohio, during the yachting regatta next July. Several local women swimmers who have starred in matches held here during the past winter are to compete. There will be eight events for women, including 50, 100 and 200 yard, free style swims; backstroke and breast strole races, fancy diving and plunge for distance. Charles A. Dean of Chicago, an A. A. U. official, will be the referee.

Detroit—Navin field may be remodelled somewhat to increase its seating capacity. Twice this season the park has not been able to accommodate baseball fans. More than 25,000 persons watched a Cleveland-Detroit contest played recently and many would-be spectators were turned away. The sport editors have suggested that the grand stands be made into double-deckers.

public in order to place the organization on a good financial basis for the season.

The high school baseball team went over to Sublette Saturday and were trimmed by the score of 19 to 17. It was a great game because everyone was over to see it and said so. The local boys were without two of their best players who were detained at home on account of work, so were greatly handicapped, but nevertheless they gave a good account of themselves as the close score indicates.

The West Brooklyn baseball team opened the 1916 season on the local grounds by defeating the Harmon team Sunday afternoon, score 7 to 2. The game was interesting and exciting and well played for the first one and the line-up presented by the local boys looks good for a banner year. A few changes may be made by the manager before he is exactly satisfied with the team, but as a whole it will be made up nearly as last year when the boys enjoyed a splendid season. Here's hoping you win every game.

Harry Derr of Harmon was here Saturday.

Mort Glenn and Mr. Jeter of Ashton were in town Saturday.

THAT BACKACHE SPELLS DANGER

Action Today May Save Dixon People Future Misery

A bad back isn't a bad thing if it serves as a warning of hidden kidney disorders. Kidney diseases are frightfully common today. We overdo too much. We don't give the kidneys a chance to rest up, and while a bad back, some urinary disorder or occasional dizzy spell or a persistent headache may be the only outward sign, the kidney trouble that is behind it all may be overlooked or neglected. Put your signs to use. Take them as warnings. Fight off kidney weakness. It takes only a slight kidney disorder to start a case of fatal Bright's disease, from which 100,000 people in the United States every year promptly treatment at first—that's all that's necessary to keep kidney weakness from turning into gravel, dropsy, gout, heart trouble or Bright's. Use Doan's Kidney Pills—the oldest the most widely used, best recommended Kidney Pills. Forty thousand Americans recommend them publicly. Here's one Dixon case:

Mrs. J. Carney, 511 Spruce street Dixon, says: "My back was so sore that I couldn't walk erect and morning it was hard for me to get out of bed. Various medicines didn't benefit me and when a friend recommended Doan's Kidney Pills, I got some at Leake Bros. Co.'s Drug store. After taking two boxes, my back was strengthened and I felt better."

Price 50c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Carney had. Foster-McBurn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

GUNNER FINED FOR SHOOTING A ROBIN

A hunter in the vicinity of DeKalb shot a robin. The prosecuting committee of the DeKalb Wild Life Preservation society heard of the deed and it cost the culprit $17.50. The laws impose a severe penalty for shooting song birds, on account of their value to human being in protecting trees and crops from insect pests.

FOR SALE. 20 to 25 pigs 2 1/2 months old. B. P. Behrends, R. 1. Phone 31400. 114 6*

FOR SALE. 160 acre Lee County farm, located about 5 miles from Dixon, Ill. This is one of the best farms in Lee County. Improvements consist of 7 room house, all first class condition, cellar under entire house; has the largest basement barn in the township, double corn crib, windmill and one well by house, machine shed and chicken house. Farm is partly fenced with woven wire; all fences are in good repair. There is no waste land on this farm, can all be cropped, there is a little over 100 acres now in crop. Rented for 1916, cash for pasture and one-half of crops. This is the biggest bargain in the county today at the price it is offered. The reason is that the owner is a non-resident and will sell at the sacrifice price of $250 per acre, but you must act quick as I only have this for 30 days to offer you at this price as it is too cheap to sell at the above price. Might take some trade if you hurry F. Benson Co., Room 3, Loveland Bldg., Dixon, Ill. 113 3

BRYAN TREATY BARS ACTION WITH BRITAIN.

U. S. Has No Such Obligation With Kaiser's Government.

Washington, May 15.—United States is prevented from making effective protests against British sea aggression, officials say, by the provisions of Bryan peace treaty.

This announcement from a high official source gave a new significance to the reference to the Bryan treaty made by Secretary Lansing in his recent German submarine note. In that note Lansing answered Germany's suggestion that the United States treat with Great Britain for relief from oppressive features of the blockade by pointing out that the United States had treaty obligations governing settlement of disputes with England. He said also that the United States has no such treaty with Germany.

It was said that if Great Britain invokes the Bryan treaty for settlement of its controversy with the United States no relief can be obtained for a year at the earliest, by which time it is believed the war will have ended.

FT. WAYNE ELOPER CAUGHT

Veteran and Girl of 16 Are Arrested at Hillsdale.

Hillsdale, Mich., May 15.—Love's dream was shattered for pretty Flossie Siple, sixteen-year-old Fort Wayne, Ind., girl, whose infatuation for George Mandle, on-time Bulgarian warrior and now restaurateur, led her to elope with him to Hillsdale. They were arrested while George was applying for a license to wed. "I love George and intend to marry him," the girl exclaimed to the officer.

"PAINLESS DENTISTRY" IS DECLARED AN IMPOSSIBILITY
Springfield, Ill., May 11.—Those people with teeth can hope for no painless dentistry, but must still endure the torment of the dental drill and the discomfort of the rubberdam was apparent yesterday when six hundred members of the Illinois Dental society applauded to the echo the address of Dr. J. V. Conzett of Dubuque, Iowa, trustee of the National Dental association.

"We must not make babies of our patients," said Dr. Conzett, "there is a value in pain." But he modified the penalty. Otherwise prospective patients might demand of dentists "twilight sleep," or other anesthetics. "The doctor," offered in their place, "the power of suggestion" and brief sittings."

Then he qualified his remark still more: "There is no use in torture," he went on. "The man who leaves his patient a nervous wreck is not worthy the name of dentist."

Mastery of self then suggestion, he will come by practice. Know what you are going to do, and do it quickly. I rarely keep a patient in the chair more than a half hour. Let them go soon and you will notice that complaints have come more from the length of sittings than because of physical pain."

derer always returns to the scene of his crime.

Gyllenpalm said that upon hearing this he gave way at the knees and almost sank to the sidewalk, but his friends thought he had merely slipped. When he had recovered his equilibrium Gyllenpalm asked the policeman if he thought the murderer would be caught.

The officer replied: "Yes, if he is fool enough to try to leave the city. We have everything watched. If he stays in town though, it will be more difficult."

"I decided to stop in town," said Gyllenpalm in his confession.

Always fond of cafe and restaurant life, the murderer did not alter his course of living in any way. But evidently he began to worry, for after a week had elapsed he cabled his father in Russia for funds to carry him to that country. This money which might have enabled him to escape to complete safety for the rest of his days arrived in Stockholm the morning after his arrest.

By reason of his nobility of birth, Gyllenpalm can choose that he be put to death with the sword instead of the more plebeian blade of the guillotine. Such is his inalienable prerogative.

POINCARE HITS "PEACE" TERMS

French President Attacks Kaiser's Reply to U. S.

"OFFER" NEVER BEEN MADE

Kaiser Must Bow to Terms of Entente, He Declares—Peace Will Come When Germany Is No Longer in Position to Menace World, He Asserts.

Paris, May 15.—The most significant pronouncement made by President Poincare since the beginning of the war was uttered by him at Nancy, the capital of French Lorraine.

Replying to the reference to peace proposals contained in the Kaiser's reply to the American ultimatum, President Poincare, who was addressing a body of Lorraine refugees said: "The Central Empires, haunted by remorse at having begun this war, and affrighted by the indignation and hatred which they have aroused among human kind, are attempting to make the world believe that the allies alone are responsible for the prolongation of hostilities.

Must Ask for Peace.

"This is ponderous irony that deceives no one. Neither directly nor indirectly have our enemies offered us terms of peace. But we do not want them to ask us for peace. We do not want to submit to their conditions; we want to enforce our own. We do not want a peace that will leave imperial Germany the mistress to begin another war and hang as an eternal menace over Europe; we want a peace that will bring restoration of rights and that will carry with it guarantees of equilibrium and stability.

"So long as this peace is not assured to us and so long as our enemies will not admit they are defeated we shall not cease fighting."

German Note Discussed.

Discussing the reasons for Germany's acceptance of President Wilson's note, the semi-official Temps says:

"The Kaiser's hopes that President Wilson has been won over by his submission and will act as an intermediary for peace before all is lost. He expects to find American support for his peace proposals and the intrigues Prince von Buelow is weaving at the Vatican."

The most reliable information which has reached us from neutral sources shows that political, financial and commercial circles of Germany and Austria-Hungary are being told that they must expect peace by August at the latest.

GRENADATE ATTACK REPELLED

French Assault on Hill 304 Position, Fails, Says Berlin.

Berlin, May 15.—The repulse of a French attack with grenades on German positions in the vicinity of Hill 304, on the Verdun front, is announced in official statement.

Paris, May 15.—French positions near Dead Man Hill on the Verdun front were bombarded violently but there was no infantry attack. A German thrust south of Roye was repulsed, official statement says.

GERMAN MOBS RIOT FOR FOOD

Three Hundred Persons Killed and Wounded by Machine Guns.

London, May 15.—Unprecedented food riots occurred in Mannheim, Germany, last Saturday, according to the Exchange Telegraph's Geneva correspondent. The military brought machine guns into play to quell the mobs, and 300 persons were killed or wounded.

Fugitives from Mannheim arrived at Basle, Switzerland, with the story, the correspondent wired.

Thieves Steal Whiskey in Jail, Clarksburg, W. Va., May 15.—Thieves broke into the Preston county jail at Tunnelton and stole a barrel of whiskey which was part of stock that had been confiscated by prohibition officers. Bloodhounds are being used in an effort to run down the robbers.

Mrs. Seavey of Palmyra was a Dixon shopper this morning.
